

I have a dream that one day wars and conflicts in our world will stop and be replaced by peace.

I wish that all our children will live a peaceful and safe life.

I dream that people all around the globe will live without the fear of being killed or losing a loved one at any moment.

I have a dream that one day everybody will be able to walk in the street of any part of the world with the only desire of admiring the beauty of our world.

This is my hope.

With this faith we will be able to prevent a lot of innocent people from being involved in conflict and risking their lives.

With this faith all the countries at war nowadays will be able to thrive, allowing their citizens to have the same chance in the future.
And if humanity really is an evolved species as we like to say, this must become true.
